

INSURGENTS
MAKE ATTACKThey Have Seized the Town of Cabanas

PURPOSE OF THE REBELS

Is to Bottle Up the Government Forces in the Mountains of the Pinar del
Rio Province--Town of Cruces Raided.

Havana, Aug. 29.—Fresh activity on the part of the insurgents in two provinces has given the answer temporarily, at least, to the government's offer of amnesty. Two hundred insurgents have seized the town of Cabanas, near the United States naval station, and if the rebels can hold the place, they may be able to land arms and ammunition, believed to have been shipped from the United States, at that point.

The town of Cruces, in the Santa Clara province, has also been raided by the insurgents. The attacking party was headed by the mayor of the town, who went over to the insurgents two days ago. The mayor returned today with a party of a hundred men and sacked all the stores and carried away supplies of provisions, merchandise and medical supplies. The town of Consolacion was entered yesterday, but no violence was offered.

The plans of the rebels is to bottle up the government forces in the mountains of the Pinar del Rio province. As soon as the government army has been sent to the provinces an army will spring up behind the rebel soldiers and they will be cut off. The insurgents in the eastern provinces will then rise and move on Havana.

COLLINS SUSPENDED.

He Absented Himself from His Team
All Night.

Boston, Aug. 29.—James Collins, manager and third baseman of the Boston American league baseball club was suspended yesterday for absenting himself from the team without leave. For several weeks Collins has declined to take any part in the management. He has felt keenly the slump of his team this season, and according to his own statement has been unable to get into condition to play himself. Early in the month Collins desired to resign as manager of new players to strengthen the team, but instead an agent was employed to get new men and the manager was ordered to get into condition to play. President Ben Johnson of the American league arrived in the city last night to consult with the club management regarding the Collins difficulty. Outfielder Stahl has been placed in charge of the team.

PLACED HER HEAD
ON THE CAR TRACKSMrs. L. A. Blodgett of Newport, N. H.,
Committed Suicide on Birthday
Anniversary—Had Been Despondent.

Newport, N. H., Aug. 29.—Mrs. Louisa A. Blodgett, aged 79 years, was instantly killed by the early morning passenger train near her home at Kelleyville yesterday morning.

The train was in charge of Conductor F. O. Brown and Engineer Durt Black. Mrs. Blodgett had been irresponsible since the death of her eldest son, Frank, who died last winter. She attempted suicide early in the spring, but she was prevented from doing any serious damage by her son, Elbridge, with whom she had lived since the death of her husband.

Yesterday was her 79th birthday. Monday evening she retired in good spirits, and when Mr. Blodgett arose he found the back door of the house open. He suspected that she had strayed away and went back to start out to look for her when he received a message from Newport that she had been killed by the train.

The place of the accident was about a quarter of a mile from her house. At that place the track is being regraded and the five between the ties was dug away. She crawled under the track and put her head just above the ties.

Engineer Blake was running as usual and he saw an object on the track which looked like a white stone, as nothing showed but the white head of the old lady, her shoulders and body being completely hidden in the culvert. As the train drew close the fireman saw her shoulders, and it was too late to stop the train. She was struck in the back of the head at the base of the brain and killed instantly.

Mrs. Blodgett was the widow of Eben Blodgett, who died in the life line accident of Newport. She is survived by her son, Elbridge Blodgett, and was living with him at the time of her death. The body was brought to Newport by the train crew and was then placed under the charge of Undertaker Newton.

LONG HELD IN $10,000
FOR SHOOTING GIRL WIFEThe Sad Ending of a Romantic Love
Match—He Couldn't Support Her,
Which Led to a Separation.

Boston, Aug. 29.—Robert H. Long, of Chelsea, who shot his wife last evening was held in court this morning in $10,000 for bearing on Saturday.

Mrs. Jennie Hazel Long, 19 years old, of Chelsea, was shot by her husband, Robert H. Long, 32 years old, also of Chelsea, on the street in that city last evening, and will probably die from her wounds.

Long and his wife had separated and the tragedy grew out of Long's futile efforts to prevail upon his wife to return to him. Both are well known among the younger people of the city and the affair was the topic of general and excited discussion during the entire evening and until late at night.

The shooting took place just before 7 o'clock in Bassett square, one of the most frequented places in Chelsea. It was seen by a dozen or more witnesses, and every detail of it became known to the police very soon after it happened. Long was captured with the smoking revolver in his hand, and made absolutely no effort to get away. The utmost confusion reigned in the square immediately after the commission of the crime, and at first it was reported that Long had not killed his wife, but had succeeded in committing suicide.

Mrs. Long left her husband about three months ago and secured employment at Wonderland as a cashier. She took a room with Mrs. Charles E. Phillips at 120 1/2 Washington avenue. Her 15-month-old infant was placed in the care of Mrs. Charles H. Long of 30 Bellingham street, Robert Long's mother. This arrangement about the child was made pending the hearing of young Mrs. Long's petition for a divorce from her husband, brought on the allegations of non-support and cruel and abusive treatment. Young Mrs. Long paid the infant's board with its grandmother.

A SURPRISE FOR MARSHALL.

Woodsville Man Becomes Acquainted
With Half-Sister and Half-Brother.

Woodsville, N. H., Aug. 29.—Hiram B. Marshall, chief at the Tremont house, has enjoyed within a day or two a family reunion somewhat out of the ordinary when he entertained at dinner a half-brother and half-sister, of whom he had no previous recollection.

The guests were Henry Marshall, now 70 years of age, and Mrs. Ellen (Marshall) Stachan, 67 years of age, and now living in Webster. Mr. Marshall learned at the same time of the whereabouts of the two other members of the same branch of the family, John W. Marshall of Danville, Ill., and Mrs. Viola Marshall (Cushman) Marshall of Franklin.

The father, the Rev. Harven Marshall, was born in Weare in 1810 and was pastor of churches in Goshen, Lowell, Mass., and other towns and cities. After the death of his first wife his family became scattered, and he married later his widow, Mrs. Mary E. Marshall, now living in Manchester, their only child being Hiram B. Marshall, born in Peterborough in 1862.

Mr. Marshall and his little knowledge of his half-brothers and sisters until he met and was privileged to entertain the two mentioned, when he obtained for the first time full knowledge of his family.

FATTED CALF
IS READYFeast Prepared for Political Prodigal Bryan

300,000 TO GREET HIM

On His Arrival in New York—Never in the History of the Country
Has There Been Such Hurrah
for a Private Citizen.

New York, Aug. 29.—Roped, fattened and ready is the fattened young bovine and late tonight or early tomorrow morning he will be converted into veal to be served up at the imposing feast arranged by Uncle Sam for the returning political prodigal, William Jennings Bryan.

And it is to be a feast. Three hundred thousand people from all parts of the United States, together with a tremendous outpouring of cash, millions will be uniting at the dock, or as near to it as the crush of humanity will admit, to extend a political glad hand or join in a shout of welcome to a peerless leader or an illustrious citizen, according to their point of view.

Never in the history of our country has such a hurrah been arranged for a private citizen as is promised Thursday afternoon when Mr. William J. Bryan of Lincoln, Neb., drives up Old Broadway. Governors, mayors, state senators and other official dignitaries, heading delegations from every state in the union, are arriving in the city today and putting their final touches on the voices which they expect to use in the big noise. Theoretically, this reception is to be a nation's felicitation of the greatness of one of her most prominent sons, a man whose personality and high-mindedness have within the last year won the respect and good will of the leading nations of the world—this feeling having been manifest during his recent globe-trotting tour.

That is what the reception means theoretically. In reality, however, it is, according to the expression of men used to judging the nation's work, to be the national Democracy's friendly slap on the back of the man who is returning to the country with a presidential nomination sealed and addressed to him personally to be delivered some two years hence; it is Democracy's glad yell of "We're for ye, Bill."

In substantiation of this last opinion it is predicted that in the speech which Mr. Bryan will make in Madison Square garden tomorrow night he will pound the Democratic keynote of the next presidential campaign.

There will be no fan-fare or trumpet's dangle of gold lace or clank of sword. Tomorrow's parade is to be a Democratic triumph in honor of Citizen Bryan. The opportunity to rebuke the "imperial pomp and pageantry" of the last presidential inauguration (a Republican arrangement) will not be overlooked. There will be nothing military about the parade, the nearest approach thereto being the police, a battalion of the "finest," which will lead the procession up Broadway.

Ten years ago Wall street poured out its millions to defeat the "boy orator of the Pacific." Tomorrow when the Nebraska moves through the financial district he will be greeted with salutes and cheers from the homes of the great financial institutions which but a decade ago trembled in fear of his radicalism. Today they view him as a conservative.

They will listen eagerly to-morrow night to that speech in the expectation of winning their present view substantiated.

THAT DISEASED MEAT.

Statement Made by Charles White of Richmond About It.

Burlington, Aug. 29.—The affidavits concerning the alleged illegal sale of tuberculous cattle by states officials or under their authority, turn out to be statements, although both parties making the statements say that they are ready to make oath to the truth of them.

The statements are made by W. G. and Charles S. White of Richmond. That of the elder Mr. White is simply a statement to the effect that in October, 1905, the commission of the state tested his herd of cattle and condemned 57 of the number; that he was paid 80 per cent of the appraised value as provided for by law, and that the 57 head of cattle were driven to the station by order of the cattle commission; that the cattle, in company with cattle condemned from the herd of M. S. Whitcomb of Richmond were shipped away from Richmond and that his son, Charles S. White, followed the cattle to their ultimate destination to see what final disposition was made of them.

The statement of Charles S. White follows:

"I, Charles White of Richmond, county of Chittenden and state of Vermont, say:

"That I am in politics a Republican; that in October, 1905, the cattle commission of the state of Vermont tested the cattle of V. C. White of Richmond and tuberculous; that 57 said cattle were condemned by said commission and were driven to the railway station at Richmond under the direction of the state cattle commission. The cattle so condemned were shipped from Richmond and I followed them to Haverhill and Boston. There one lot was set off at Haverhill in the state of Massachusetts, the remainder were shipped to Boston; that I was there and saw the condemned cattle of M. S. Whitcomb and W. G. White unloaded from the cars and saw about 120 of the herd slaughtered at the slaughter house of the New England meat and wool company and dressed as beef in dressed, the various parts, tongue, liver, etc., saved. The cattle after being dressed were put on the track and run toward the cooling house. I saw the government inspector inspecting the same carcasses; of the 120 that I saw slaughtered 9 of the 120 were condemned by the inspector, the remainder were stamped 'U. S. inspected' and most of them passed into the cooling room. I then came back to Haverhill and found the carcass of cattle set there in what was called a meadow pasture.

"The 95 head of condemned cattle were in the charge of one Rowell and one Farnum, who came back together on the train. I heard Rowell say to Farnum, 'How many do you suppose they picked on us?' Farnum said, 'I do not know; how many?' Mr. Rowell, 'Thirteen.'

"To all of the above statements I am ready to make oath.

"(Signed) Chas. S. White."

METEOR IN CASTLETON.

Believed Eight-Foot Hole Close to House
Contains It.

Castleton, Aug. 29.—Some excitement has been caused here by the discovery Sunday morning of a deep hole in his front lawn, believed to have been made by a falling meteor. About two o'clock Sunday morning Mrs. Guilden was awakened by a loud explosion, which also was heard by others residing on Seminary street, where the Guilden home is located.

Arising later Mr. Guilden found the peculiar sound. The hole is within a few feet of the house and was examined with interest by many yesterday. It is as smooth on both sides as if cut out with a knife, and is about eight feet deep. An investigation will be made to ascertain what it contains.

Grand Isle, Aug. 29.—What might have been a lynching was averted here Monday night by the quick action of Deputy Sheriff Victor L. Hurlburt, who managed to elude a crowd of angry people and lodged Edson Bletan in the county jail at North Hero. Bletan was arraigned Monday evening before Justice of the Peace Charles B. Russell on a charge of assault upon Josephine Patnaude, a 12-year-old girl. He was bound over to await the action of the winter term of the Grand Isle county court in the sum of $5,000 bail, State's Attorney Hurlburt being for the state.

When Deputy Hurlburt was taking the prisoner to jail after the hearing he was followed by a mob of 150 people, who demanded that the prisoner be turned over to them. Hurlburt deputized several men to insure the protection of his prisoner, who was finally lodged safely in the jail.

The building was surrounded and the cries of the mad crowd demanding Bletan terrified the prisoner within.

State Convention Itself Opened.
Last Evening With Good Attendance.

St. Johnsbury, Aug. 29.—Yesterday was Young People's Christian Union day. Report of the president, Rev. C. H. Penneyer, Springfield, showed a gain over last year of members and money raised and general interest. Good citizenship as one aim of the organization was emphasized. Rev. Walter Dole, D. Bishop expects an attendance of over 200 students; 100 of whom are to room in the main building. The dormitories have been completely renovated with paint and paper and the rooms are very attractive. Miss Chamberlain, the teacher, who has been studying at the Harvard summer school, will return to the seminary.

WANTS MR. HUGHES' LETTER.

But Latter Did Not Bear on Subject of Questions.

Editor Barre Daily Times: I wish to thank you in the name of the C. L. U. for publishing the replies received to the questions issued from that body to the candidates for senate and legislature in the county of Washington, and the city of Barre, but regret to note that you had omitted the explanatory note from Mr. Michael Hughes of Graniteville, and hope you will find space to publish it yet, so as to give justice to Mr. Michael Hughes, and also to the public, who ought to be made acquainted with the standing of all candidates.

Jas. Mutch, secretary C. L. U.

[Mr. Hughes' letter accompanying his answer to the questions of the central labor union was for his explanation of them, but an exposition of Socialism, a criticism of the method of asking questions, and an appeal to the voters to join with the Socialists and to vote their ticket. Not one line of it was in answer to any of the questions asked, and the Times excluded it for that reason.—Ed.]

How Would They Vote?

Editor Daily Times: In these busy days, when ears are on the ground and "adv." seems soothing to the eye, your space is a reality, conjecture a whim. But a close election might throw the selection of governor into the house. I would like to ask the candidates for representative, if elected, how they would vote in that event? Let every sheep hang by his own shank. Confession is good for the soul.

George Cassie.

Barre's favorite son, G. Herbert Page, candidate for lieutenant-governor, speaks at the opera house tonight. Don't fail to hear him.

The dead body of Charles Bartlett, of Newport Center, who disappeared from home August 20, was found August 23 one and one-half miles from his home. He had killed himself by drinking carbolic acid. It is said that Bartlett had some trouble with his wife and beat her in such a manner as to render her unconscious, afterward disappearing from home.

The Rev. Leonard Dolph celebrated his 104th birthday anniversary Friday at his home in Brandon. Mr. Dolph is in very good health and retains his mental faculties to a marvelous extent. His eyesight is failing. A few months ago Mr. Dolph attended service at the Congregational church.

Over $300 has already been raised in Candor toward the rebuilding of the Methodist church, destroyed in the recent fire.

The Congregational church at Ludlow will observe its centennial from September 23 to 25.

ALD. MILNE
"CHESTY"Declares Alderman Cutler at
Meeting of Board

IN DISPUTE ON RESURVEY

Alderman from Ward 2 Says He Will Attend to His Duties if Alderman
From Ward 1 Will Look
After His Own.

The regular meeting of the board of aldermen passed off peaceably enough last evening, until all the business in hand had been disposed of, when Alderman Milne asked for information as to the progress of the resurvey of South Main street. He wanted to know what the street committee was going to do about it. He said the aldermen thought they were not treated decent at the hearing.

Alderman Cutler, chairman of the street committee, wanted to know in what way the hearing was indecent? This started a discussion on the object of the resurvey and the objections that were made to it at the hearing. Because of these things was settled on as yet and no finding had been made. Alderman Milne persisted that the street committee should hurry up and do something, which ended up in Alderman Cutler's telling Alderman Milne that if he (Milne) would attend to his own affairs and see that they were properly attended to, he (Cutler) would try and look after those that came to him for his attention. Alderman Milne, he declared, was getting chesty.

The mayor was authorized to execute a lease with the Central Vermont Railroad Company for a piece of land on Burnham's Meadow.

The bond of the Union Telephone Co. was submitted to the board and referred to the mayor to look up the securities and see if they are satisfactory.

The matter of opening bids for painting city property was laid over till Wednesday evening, Sept. 5. Alderman Milne had failed to include in his advertisement for bids the clause giving the city the right to "reject any or all bids." It was decided to advertise for bids.

The Socialists were granted the use of the band stand for Friday and Monday evenings for political meetings.

Warrants for $8.18 each were ordered paid to each of following religious societies: Baptist, Roman Catholic, Christian Science, Congregational, Episcopal, Methodist, Pentecostal, Presbyterian, Salvation Army, and Universalist society.

Pay Fire Station Note.

A warrant for $6,823.21 to pay fire station note due Feb. 1, 1907, was ordered paid.

The amount of the sinking fund this year is $6,966.21, and this amount was ordered deposited in the Granite Savings Bank & Trust Co. at 4 1/2 per cent interest.

CHANGES AT SPAULDING.

Heating Arrangements Improved and Sanitary System Changed.

An auxiliary steam heating system is being installed at the Spaulding school and important changes are also being made in the plumbing arrangements. The new heating system will add greatly in warming the building during the winter, as the old system in years past has often been very inadequate. Steam radiators have been placed in every room, so that now the cold weather can be met satisfactorily. In the sanitary system, the old arrangement which did away with the refuse by burning, has been abandoned and the entire system is now connected with the sewers. In order to accomplish this it was necessary to take up the four-inch tile which connected with the street main and to put a 6-inch tile in its place. This work has already been completed, and the other changes will be completed before the opening of the schools, September 5th.
